

Installing Lobe.ai from self service on mac

To install Lobe.ai you will need to do so from Self Service.

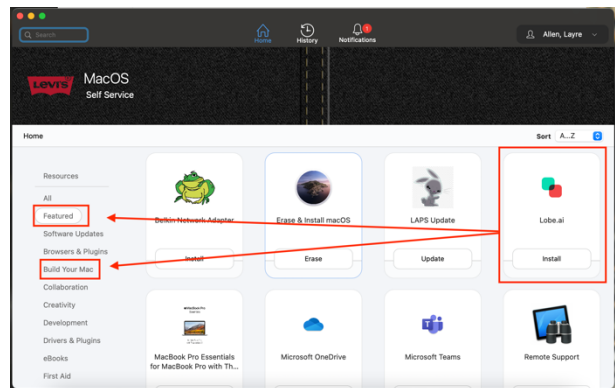

Self Service should be in your bottom dock if not it can be found in the applications folder in finder.

Log into Self Service with your network ID and OKTA password.

Lobe.ai will show up in 2 locations: you will find it in “featured” and “Build your Mac” (Position will differ for everyone)

After installation is complete you will get a notification and the application will show up now in the applications folder and is ready for use.

